

LEAVE POLICY

Employee Leave, Work-from-Home Leave and Holiday Rules

Document structure: Each section has a unique policy identifier to support precise retrieval and citation in RAG systems.

LP-001 — Purpose

This policy explains the types of leave available to employees, eligibility, approval requirements, documentation, carry-forward rules, and company holidays. It applies to regular full-time employees unless a section states otherwise.

LP-002 — Annual Leave

Eligible employees receive 18 days of annual leave per calendar year. Annual leave is intended for planned personal time, travel, family commitments, or other approved purposes. Employees should submit planned annual leave at least 5 working days before the first day of leave. Annual leave is subject to manager approval and operational requirements.

LP-003 — Sick Leave

Employees receive 12 days of sick leave per calendar year. Sick leave may be used when an employee is unable to work because of illness or medical recovery. For sick leave lasting more than 2 consecutive working days, the employee may be asked to provide reasonable medical documentation. Employees should notify their manager as soon as reasonably possible on the first day of absence.

LP-004 — Casual Leave

Employees receive 6 days of casual leave per calendar year. Casual leave is intended for short, unexpected personal matters that do not require annual leave. Casual leave should normally be requested before the absence; in an emergency, the employee must notify the manager as soon as possible.

LP-005 — Work-from-Home Leave

Work-from-home leave allows an eligible employee to perform their normal duties from home when approved. Employees may request up to 2 WFH days per month. WFH leave is not an additional paid-leave balance; it records an approved change of work location. Employees must remain available during normal working hours and attend required online meetings.

LP-006 — Leave Approval

Leave requests must be submitted through the company's leave-management system. The immediate manager is the primary approver. Requests involving more than 5 consecutive working days require manager approval and HR notification. Employees should not assume leave is approved until the request status shows approved.

LP-007 — Carry-Forward Rules

Up to 10 unused annual-leave days may be carried into the following calendar year. Carried-forward annual leave must be used by March 31 of the following year unless HR grants a written exception. Sick leave and casual leave cannot be carried forward. WFH leave has no carry-forward balance because it is not a leave accrual.

LP-008 — Holiday Policy

The company publishes an annual holiday calendar. Company holidays do not normally reduce an employee's annual-leave balance. If a company holiday falls during an approved annual-leave period, that holiday is excluded from the annual-leave deduction. Employees required to work on a designated company holiday must follow the applicable manager and HR instructions for compensatory arrangements.

LP-009 — Leave During Probation

Employees on probation may request annual, sick, and casual leave according to their available balance and applicable approval rules. Leave taken during probation may be considered when reviewing attendance and reliability, but approved leave is not automatically treated as misconduct.

LP-010 — Leave Cancellation and Changes

Employees should update or cancel a leave request through the leave-management system as soon as plans change. If an employee returns earlier than planned, they should notify their manager and update the request where the system permits.

LP-011 — Unauthorized Absence

An absence without required notification or approval may be treated as unauthorized absence. Repeated unauthorized absence may result in disciplinary action under the company's disciplinary policy.

LP-012 — Examples

Example 1: An employee requests 4 annual-leave days five working days in advance. The request can be considered under the normal approval process. Example 2: An employee has 13 unused annual-leave days at year-end. Only up to 10 days may be carried forward. Example 3: An employee is sick for 3 consecutive working days and may be asked for medical documentation.
